1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose

This document will list all lookup data and system reference data that will be required for the new Classification Database Application.

This document will be a living document where the lookup/reference data specific to each separate iteration will be progressively added.

1.2 Intended Audience

The intended audience of this document is the:

- Datacom OFLC Project Team
- Office for Film and Literature Classification Project team.

1.3 Overview

The Office of Film and Literature Classification has initiated a project to develop and implement a 9(2)(k) application to replace their existing CLOSET system.

This new application will be built using Microsoft technologies including an off the shelf product called K2.Net which will underpin the new 9(2)(k) application and manage the Office's workflow processes.

1.3.1 Scope

The current scope for the application is defined in the following documents:

- OFLC System Requirements Specification document
- Iteration Statement of Work documents

1.4 Iterative Approach

9(2)(b)(ii)

Functional Specification documents will be created for each functional component contained within an iteration. These documents will only include software functionality being introduced as part of that iteration.

Each subsequent iteration will build on the functionality released in the previous iteration, progressively working towards a final release.

1.5 Outstanding issues and actions

For all project and document issues refer to the Project Clarification Register.

2 OFLC Look Up Data

2.1 Introduction

This section details the Look up data that will be added to the new Classification Database Application.

LookUp data is defined as being the data that is displayed in dropdown lists within the application and this data can be maintained by the CDA System Administrator.

The data being added will be listed under the Lookup table name and the Iteration that it is being released for.

2.2 Attribute Table

2.2.1 Purpose

This table will be used to populate the Attribute field on Historic publications and to populate the Attribute multi select list on the Publication Search screen.

2.2.2 Records

The following Attribute records will be created:

3 OFLC Reference Data Tables

3.1 Introduction

Reference data within the Classification Database Application is defined as information that can be searched or values that populate lists that cannot be maintained from within the Application (like Lookup table values can). Reference data can only be maintained by software development staff as there are specific rules coded for each reference data item.
