Consultation Decision

Whenuakite (NHMS site) is recognised as a nationally significant site. Several nationally threatened plant and animal species occur within the control blocks and are susceptible to rat predation and possum browse. Mustelids and Cats are also controlled in the region in an effort to provide sustained pest control to increase the health of the ecosystem. Consultation will take place on effects in the Whenuakite operational area only due to cost and consideration with conservation outcomes.

Whenuakite is an important site for Ngati Hei, Ngaati Whanaunga, Ngati Tamatera and Ngati Hako containing Pa sites and traditions dating back to the early navigators, Iwi are working to protect and enhance the indigenous ecosystem, species, soil and water values within the Whenuakite block.

Consultation Objectives

Conduct an informative consultation process that partners, stakeholders and public can easily relate to from the outset of planning to the removal of toxin signs. Early engagement will give us a greater time period to consult on; planning team make-up and operation time lines, pre-monitoring, vulnerable fauna and flora, buffers, water catchment mitigation and the benefits of larger scale operations.

Iwi as partners are consulted with first in the process and where possible DOC will assist with iwi capacity building initiatives to improve their knowledge and ability to conduct their own pest control operations in the future.

Explore partnership opportunities with WRC on buffers and traditionally treated private land.

Consult and explore opportunities with community groups such as

Identify who will be affected and in what way

Treatment boundaries are confirmed with adjoining landowners and occupiers

Notification Objectives

Ensuring target audiences know about the planned operation

Ensuring the most affected parties know when the operation is about to start

Keeping target audiences informed about the result and ongoing risks of the operation

Keeping target audiences informed about the result and ongoing risks of the operation

Background

Whenuakite site is a combination of PCL and private land containing rear coastal forest and large numbers of Coromandel brown Kiwi. Whenuakite has a very active community group () who maintain ground work with cat traps and a DOC 200 trapping network in between operations.

The Whenuakite Block was to be part of a bigger operation for the 19/20 year (Southern Forest) but due to reallocation of funds by Battle for Our Birds to the Mega Beach mast in the South Island the funding for this larger operation was removed. Office decided to go forward with the smaller operation funded with a local budget due to the massive gains already achieved in this area could not be pushed out another 12 months.

Issues

There is a history of strong opposition to 1080 from within the local community
New owners since commencement of consultation information been sent Landowner consent as part of SOP requirements
Risk to Department of Conservation staff pre, during and post operation
Possum wandering towards urban areas before dying after ingesting 1080, causing secondary poisoning of domestic animals particularly dogs
Possum carcasses washing down rivers during high rainfall events, causing secondary poisoning of domestic animals particularly dogs
Public/private water sources are located within or immediately downstream of the operational area
Unfenced and sensitive boundaries of anti-1080 adjacent landowners
Effect on commercial enterprises operating in operational area
Effect on community groups operation in operational area
Early consultation with Treaty Partners
Unintended ingesting of toxin by domestic animals or farm stock

Key Messages

Whenuakite area contains examples of ecosystems and threatened species that are nationally significant Obligation on the Department is to achieve more with less, encouraging use of the most cost-effective methods
Any increase in cost of control will mean a decrease in how much conservation we can deliver
The operation is intended to improve the health of the forest leading to an increase in native flora and fauna.
We are also aiming to improve stream health.
Rats eat many native birds and so any control of rats will result in an increase in bird abundance
Extensive monitoring of native birds following aerial 1080 operations shows that they benefit from pest control
1080 is not cumulative and rapidly breaks down into harmless substances, such as CO2 and water
Our target is to get Rat numbers below 5% SMI
Leg-hold traps and cyanide do not target rats, which we want to control to protect native birds
“Bird recovery is a key outcome at Whenuakite” Intense management at the Whenuakite site by the Department of Conservation and the Whenuakite community has resulted in the recovery of many native bird species including wood pigeon which our forests are dependent on for native seed dispersal and propagation. The continued recovery of native birds at Whenuakite is a key outcome of this operation.

			Opportunity arose for discussion with [redacted] while [redacted] was meeting on related conservation work. [redacted] and [redacted] talked about the Whenuakite 1080 operation and the wider aerial 1080 programs in the Hauraki and Whitianga areas. Key points discussed were: Hauraki and Whitianga offices dependancy on aerial 1080 in arduous and remote areas until a "new" tool is available in 10-15years time. Animal Pests Framework Training opportunities for Tamatera is a good initiative and will be taken up. Ongoing workshops and hui with iwi to socialise pest control tools and practices that are available, being used presently by DOC and the biodiversity outcomes being acheived.	Meeting		13/07/2019	1.
