Dear S.I

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Thank you for your Official Information Act 1982 (OIA) request dated 10 November 2022, in which you sought:

- All documents related to the National Intelligence Application and any other information records.

The National Intelligence Application (NIA) is the core application that New Zealand Police (Police) used to record information about people, locations, organisations, vehicles and items.

The NIA Manual describes NIA functions and how to use the platform. The NIA Manual is some 1400 pages and has not been updated since 2017. The release of it is refused pursuant to section 18(f) of the OIA, as the information requested cannot be made available without substantial collation or research.

I do not believe that access to the NIA Manual would give you the information that you are seeking. I trust that the National Recording Standard (NRS) and the information given in response to your other questions gives you a good insight into the information recorded in relation to the interactions that individuals have with Police. I would be happy to address any subsequent or more defined questions.

There are a number of other systems that are used for sources of information, however your request for all information about these is refused pursuant to section 18(f) of the OIA, as the information requested cannot be made available without substantial collation or research.

- Including the training documentation & policies that are used to educate & inform all police employees on how use the systems.

The primary Police documents guiding staff about what information to record in NIA is the National Recording Standard (NRS). The NRS is published on the Police Website and is publicly available at: <https://www.police.govt.nz/about-us/publication/national-recording-standard-march-2022>

Telephone: 04 474 9499. Fax: 04 498 7400. www.police.govt.nz

Access to NIA is restricted and as such subject to meeting the requirements of being an employee of Police and the policy set out below.

All access to NIA is logged in transaction history logs and subject to scrutiny. Random and targeted audits of NIA usage are performed by Police's National Integrity Unit to ensure appropriate use.

Information around our acceptable use of information and technology, and information security is also publicly available as follows:

- If not already covered in the above documents then I would also request all documents explaining all associated codes, abbreviations, details that can be used on an individual's personal information file or dossier.

The NRS gives details about what information may be recorded in a Person dossier.

Attached is a list of the codes and their description that may be used on a person's dossier to record incidents and offences (Appendix A). Additionally, a number of alerts may be recorded in relation to a person and a copy of these is attached (Appendix B). Also attached is a brief glossary of common terms and abbreviations which may be used in Police records (Appendix C).

- Documents/policy/instructions on alerts/flags attributed to an individual and if/when they change status from current to historical and the procedure if the individual disagrees or contests the information held is incorrect or false.

Alerts are used to communicate risk, operational requirements and other important information. System alerts can also be received from Waka Kotahi - New Zealand Transport Agency) in relation to information they have about a person or vehicle.

Please refer to the NRS (pages 97 and 98) for alert information. Some alerts have set future dated expiry dates on creation (for example trespass orders which are generally for a two-year period) and automatically change status to historical after the elapsing of that period. Police may also expire alerts (and thus change the alert to historical) which are no longer relevant when interacting with a dossier.

As per Information privacy principle 7 (IPP7) of the Privacy Act 2020, any individual whose personal information is held by Police is entitled to request that Police correct the information. They can communicate this request to Police in any form, however most commonly the individual will reply to the response to a Privacy Act request and ask that Police correct their information. Privacy Act requests can be made online via <https://www.police.govt.nz/advice-services/request-information/request-information-about-yourself-privacy-act>

Please refer to sections 22 (IPP7) and 58-65 of the Privacy Act 2020 for the regulations Police must follow when processing and responding to an IPP7 request. I have also attached the over-arching procedure Police follow in responding to an IPP7 request (Appendix D).

I trust that the information provided satisfactorily addresses your areas of interest.

If not, you have the right to ask the Ombudsman to review my decision if you are not satisfied with the response to your request. Information about how to make a complaint is available at: www.ombudsman.parliament.nz.

Respectfully

Appendix C - Glossary

Apprehend or apprehension

An Apprehension occurs over two steps, both of which must be completed:

Firstly, Police identify a suspect/an offender (person or organisation) and gather the evidence required to take an action against that person.

Secondly, Police locate and advise the offender that they will be recorded by Police as being responsible for the Offence.

Apprehension does not necessarily include arrest (e.g. offender might be summonsed without arrest). In some cases, where proceedings are impeded, apprehension can occur without the second condition above being complete.

CARD

Communications and Resource Deployment system. The application used by New Zealand Police to manage initial Police response to calls for service.

CARD Event

Refers to any single record in CARD – the equivalent of an Occurrence wherever no NIA Occurrence is created, but where Police have responded to a call for service.

Case statistic

Case Statistic refers to a module in the NIA application. This is where information relating to individual offences, incidents, tasks and apprehensions is collected for statistical purposes.

CPP

Child Protection Protocol. The process by which matters of concern relating to Child Abuse identified by CYF can be referred to Police for investigation.

CRF

Child Risk Factor. The family violence risk assessment used for children.

CrimeStoppers™

The service Police provide that allows members of the public to provide Police with information relating to offending in their community anonymously via a 0800 telephone number.

CRIS

CYF

Child, Youth and Family. Now called 'Oranga Tamariki—Ministry for Children'.

DOCLOC [Number]

This is an outdated name for File or Case Number which originally was a shortened version of 'Document Locater'. The unique identifier assigned to a case/file in NIA.

E-Quip

IT Application designed as the data entry portal for mobile devices.

Family Violence

In the context of NRS, Family Violence refers to any job attended by Police that is determined by the attending officer to have involved Family Violence. The Police Family Violence Policy outlines the process for determining whether Family Violence has occurred.

FGC

Family Group Conference.

Intelligence Noting

An Intelligence Noting is a type of record in NIA used to record information for intelligence purposes that is not related to an Offence, Incident, Task, Alert or other Police action.

IPVF

Intimate Partner Vulnerability Factors. A risk-assessment used where there has been intimate partner violence in a Family Violence context.

Jurisdiction of NZ Police

NZ Police have jurisdiction to record and investigate offences which occur in New Zealand. To determine if an offence is considered to have occurred in New Zealand.

NZ Police are deemed not to have jurisdiction when other agencies in New Zealand also have jurisdiction, and they lead the investigations and record any related offences within their ICT systems.

LRT Code Book

The LRT Code Book is a list of all offence, incident and task codes available to Police. The table also contains information and specifications relating to each code. In 2015 it replaced the Pol 695 as the primary accurate source of all available codes. It is searchable on the intranet.

MO

Modus Operandi.

Narrative

Narrative refers to a number of large free-text fields in the NIA application. The main Narrative is the Occurrence Narrative, where most of the commentary about an Occurrence and the subsequent investigation is captured. There are also Narrative fields (which are structured differently) for various other parts of NIA (such as Alert Narratives and Narratives relating to Firearms Licence histories), and for CARD events.

NIA

National Intelligence Application. The system that New Zealand Police currently use to record details of offences, incidents and tasks where investigation beyond initial attendance is required.

NIA Manual

The training document showing how the NIA application works.

NRS

National Recording Standard.

NZTA

New Zealand Transport Agency.

OC or O/C

Offences against the person

Offences against the person are offences in Australian and New Zealand Standard Offence Classification (ANZSOC) divisions 01 to 06.

Organisation

For the purposes of NRS, Organisation refers to any organisation, legal or otherwise that can be identified. This includes, but is not restricted to:

Limited Companies

- Corporations
- Other Businesses
- Crown Entities (e.g. Police, Government Ministries or Departments, Local Bodies)
- Foreign Embassies or Consulates
- Registered Charities
- Religious Organisations or Groups
- Community Groups, such as Scout Groups
- Other Service Providers (such as St. John Ambulance)
- Gangs
- Organisation does not include the concept of society in general (i.e. 'Society', 'The Crown', 'Everyone' etc. do not constitute Organisations).

PAF

Police Acknowledgement Form. The form completed to produce letters sent to victims of offences acknowledging that Police have received their complaint and initiated an investigation.

PIPS

Police Infringement Processing System. The application used by PIB (Police Infringement Bureau) to process traffic infringements.

Police

PPS

Police Prosecution Service.

Primary intent

Is the main type of objective that the offender is trying to achieve: gain, injure/damage, negligence, subvert/obstruct justice, against public order, or gratification.

PRN

Person Reference Number. Unique numeric identifier assigned to people that have at any time been recorded as an offender in either Police or Justice/Corrections systems/applications. PRN is also listed as a data item in this standard.

Proceeding(s)

Describes an action taken by Police against an offender – the ‘type’ of apprehension used to deal with an offender, e.g. Prosecution.

PSO

Police Safety Order.

QID

Query Identity Details. The unique alpha-numeric identifier assigned to every member of Police staff (includes “non-sworn” staff). Officer details is also listed as a data item in this standard. Refer 7.1 for further details.

Record

Record has two meanings depending on how the word is used:

The verb record refers to the act of recording information

The noun Record refers to a physical or electronic record.

Note: Record is also a technical term applicable to NIA, for example Occurrences and Intelligence Notings are types of Records. In most cases, these types of Records are referred to directly rather than using the more generic term.

Seriousness

Seriousness of the offence is to be determined by maximum penalty

Structured Field

A structured field is a database field designed to take one piece of information in a certain way. It is specific and restrictive, allowing only certain approved values.

Here's an example of a structured field in NIA:

Validated

This refers to an entity linked in NIA, such as a person, location or vehicle, where the identity of that entity is confirmed. For example, where vehicle details are derived from NZTA records, or where a person has provided documentation (such as a valid driver's licence) that enables Police to make a positive identification based on details already recorded in a Police application (usually NIA).

Victimisation

Refers to an instance where a person or organisation has become the victim of a crime. An individual or organisation can be victimised more than once. In other words, this is the term used to describe the counting unit of victim instances – used to calculate repeat victimisations.

Visual Linker

The module in the NIA application that enables entities relating to an Occurrence to be linked together with descriptions of their relationship. For example, it allows persons to be linked to offences with the description 'Victim'.

YORST

Youth Offender Risk Screening Tool.

Youth case

Youth Case usually refers to the module in the NIA application for managing Youth Offenders and Subjects
