Official information request HNZ00021377

I refer to your official information request dated 2 June 2023 regarding CT scans, specifically:

Request:

Rumour has it that there was once an arrangement between Auckland Metro Hospitals and Auckland Zoo, for patients who were too large for the usual hospital CT scanners. This unique and creative solution for patient care is fascinating and I'd like to delve a little deeper into it.

Could you kindly assist me in understanding:

1. The specifics surrounding the Auckland Zoo arrangement, including:

1a. The dates that marked the beginning and conclusion of this arrangement.

1b. The number of patients who benefited from this arrangement during its tenure.

1c. The kind of health and safety protocols that were implemented to safeguard patient well-being and privacy during these scans at the zoo.

1d. Any policy changes, official reviews, or discussion records leading up to the discontinuation of this arrangement, assuming it is no longer active.

2. I'm also keen to learn about the current procedures that are in place for patients who are too large for standard hospital CT scanners:

2a. The specifics of these current procedures, including any partnerships or collaborations in place.

2b. The number of patients who have been accommodated via these alternative procedures since the discontinuation of the zoo arrangement.

2c. The health and safety protocols, ethical considerations, and privacy measures in place for these alternative solutions.

2d. Any challenges encountered in these current procedures and steps taken to mitigate them.

3. Lastly, if there are any discussions or plans to introduce new or improved procedures to accommodate such patients in the future, I'd love to learn about them.

Te Toka Tumai Auckland | Te Whatu Ora | Health New Zealand is unable to fulfil your above requests under section 18(e) of the Official Information Act, as the document alleged to contain the information requested does not exist.

We do not have nor has there ever been an arrangement with Auckland Zoo.

2. I'm also keen to learn about the current procedures that are in place for patients who are too large for standard hospital CT scanners:

2a. The specifics of these current procedures, including any partnerships or collaborations in place.

We are refusing the above requests under section 18(e) of the Act as the information does not exist. Te Toka Tumai Auckland has never had a case where a patient could not be scanned because of a weight issue.

The current CT scanner is able to take patients up to 300kg. In the very rare situation where a patient could not be accommodated on the CT scanner, the clinical team and Radiologists would discuss other suitable imaging options.

3. Lastly, if there are any discussions or plans to introduce new or improved procedures to accommodate such patients in the future, I'd love to learn about them.

Te Toka Tumai Auckland has no plans to introduce new or improved procedures with regard to the topic in question.
