Kia ora Chris,

I've been thinking about this and rechecked my emails – many apologies as this went to the wrong folder and I missed it. Thankfully I now have a coordinator to assist with my inbox management (@Sandeep Girish – cc'd).

Again, I hope to meet and update you on where we are at in NLNZ in regard to the Overseas Published Collection.

Times that work for me (all dates/times NZtime):

Friday 10th March: anytime between 8.30 – 11am

Wednesday 15th: anytime between 10am – midday

Tuesday 21st - Thursday 23rd: anytime between 9am – 11am

Friday 24th. 8.30am

Again, many apologies. I hope we can connect soon.

Kind regards,

Mark

Hi Mark - I wanted to follow up and find another time for our chat since it seems our calendars didn't align on the day-of. What works for you?

Chris

Kia ora and hello Chris,

My name is Mark Crookston. I am the incoming Director, Content Services at the National Library of New Zealand. Steve Knight retired in June, and I have recently been hired into this position.

I was previously Programme Director, Documentary Heritage at the Library and have been connected with the project rehoming Overseas Published Collections items from Wairere House, so am familiar with the relationship between the Library and Internet Archive.

I am aware that you have not heard from the library in some time and would like to update you on our work with the Overseas Published Collections. You'll be aware that we paused the project in November last year while we reconsidered our options.

I would be like to set up a Zoom call at a time convenient to you to update you and Brewster on the project in person.

I've met Brewster previously. When he were in NZ for the National Digital Forum in 2014, 9(2)(a)

Preferred times: 9am NZtime Tuesday to Friday next week (1pm in Pacific Time) or sometime close to then. The following week is available also.

Kind regards,

Mark
