Dear Mr Hawke

I refer to your request of 24 October 2016 for an update on my previous response to your request about the proposal to investigate online crime reporting.

Police have approved a customer research activity into gauging public support and expectations for online reporting of non-emergency matters. Findings from the customer research will be a key input into a subsequent business case. Target timeframe to complete the business case is end of July 2017. Police are currently preparing a briefing for research companies and will seek responses via GETS (Government Electronic Tendering System).

I trust this reply is of assistance.

Yours sincerely
