Register of Drinking-Water Assessors Appointed under the Health Act 1956

Section 69ZX of the Health Act 1956 (as amended by the Health (Drinking Water) Amendment Act 2007) requires the Director-General of Health to maintain a register of agencies that have been appointed as drinking-water assessors.

No agencies have been appointed as drinking-water assessors, but a number of individuals have been appointed, which section 69ZK of the Act also provides for. While not statutorily required, a register of individual drinking-water assessors is being maintained. This register includes the individual's name and employer and the date of their appointment as a drinking water assessor.

The term of appointment for each drinking-water assessor is valid until either the drinking-water assessor ceases his or her current employment or until it is revoked by notice in writing.

- The Director-General of Health has authorised each Drinking-Water Assessor to exercise only the following powers set out in the Health Act 1956:
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(a) powers of entry;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(b) inspect and copy records;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(c) require information;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(d) supply information and documents;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(e) conduct inspections, surveys, tests;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(f) direct the supply to conduct tests;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(g) take samples;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(h) verify the competence of people performing tests if they are not done by a recognised laboratory;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZP(1)(i) provide information to the Director-General of Health;
- the powers conferred in section 69ZQ(1) taking assistants and equipment when exercising power of entry.
