Thanks for this Ed, and for your message Dale.

We provided our advice to the Attorney on Friday, so all sorted on the BORA front. Hope everything else with getting the Bill through goes relatively smoothly too!

Hi Elise

Just a heads-up – Minister’s office has confirmed the plan is to lodge the Cabinet paper this week for CBC next week (on Monday 12 March). I think Dale left you a message yesterday afternoon too.

Let us know if you need anything further.

Cheers, Ed

Hi again Ed

Just checking in again on the Bill – I think my latest intel from a couple of days ago (I can't remember where from though) was that Ministerial consultation was ongoing but it was up in the air whether it would go to CBC on the 5th or the 12th. Could you please let us know asap whether the 5th is still a possibility (I imagine you'd need to be lodging fairly soon if that were the case), and whether there are likely to be any further versions of the Bill? I think the latest we have is v 12.

We will be aiming to send our advice to the Attorney today or tomorrow in any case.

Many thanks
Elise

Hi Elise

Confirmed – out for consultation now, and I haven't received any advice about when it will be lodged. I'll follow up with our Minister's office tomorrow morning to see if they can provide any more insight into intended dates.

Hi Ed

Thanks for your message this afternoon – to confirm, the Bill is out for Ministerial consultation at the moment and you're not certain of when it is planned to be lodged. My latest understanding was that it would be considered at CBC on 5 March (making our advice due to the Attorney next Mon 26th) – but while there might be some chance that it is lodged for that date you consider it unlikely?

Appreciating you're a little in the dark at the moment too, and that you and ^{s9(2)(a)} have been great with keeping us up to date when you have intel yourselves, it would be great if you could please let us know as soon as possible which date is the current aim (we need to include this information when we advise the Attorney about the Bill, and also ideally each Friday when we provide a status report for upcoming advice).

Many thanks
Elise

Don't worry about chasing the dates (I'm sure they'll let us know when they find out) – but if you could just let him know we're likely to conclude consistency on the current drafting (if that's still the case) that would be great thanks.

If Ryan's happy to sign it off that's great – then we can just update the dates and PCO version numbers once we know when it's due before getting Jeff to sign it.

Hi Andrew

We've had some questions from the Leader of the House about the Corrections Amendment Bill, and whether it could be ready quickly for introduction / first reading. Expect this request has been made of a few agencies about different Bills.

You may remember that we worked quickly to finalise the Bill in July last year, but that it ultimately wasn't introduced. From memory, the Bill at the time received a clean vet. We're proposing a couple of very minor changes to the Bill (getting rid of one proposal and adding in a new proposal that would allow Corrections to waive charges for prisoner to make phone calls).

In terms of being able to progress quickly through Cabinet if Ministers want it to, do we need a new vet, and if so what is the process?

Give me a call to discuss. Cheers, Ed

Importance: High

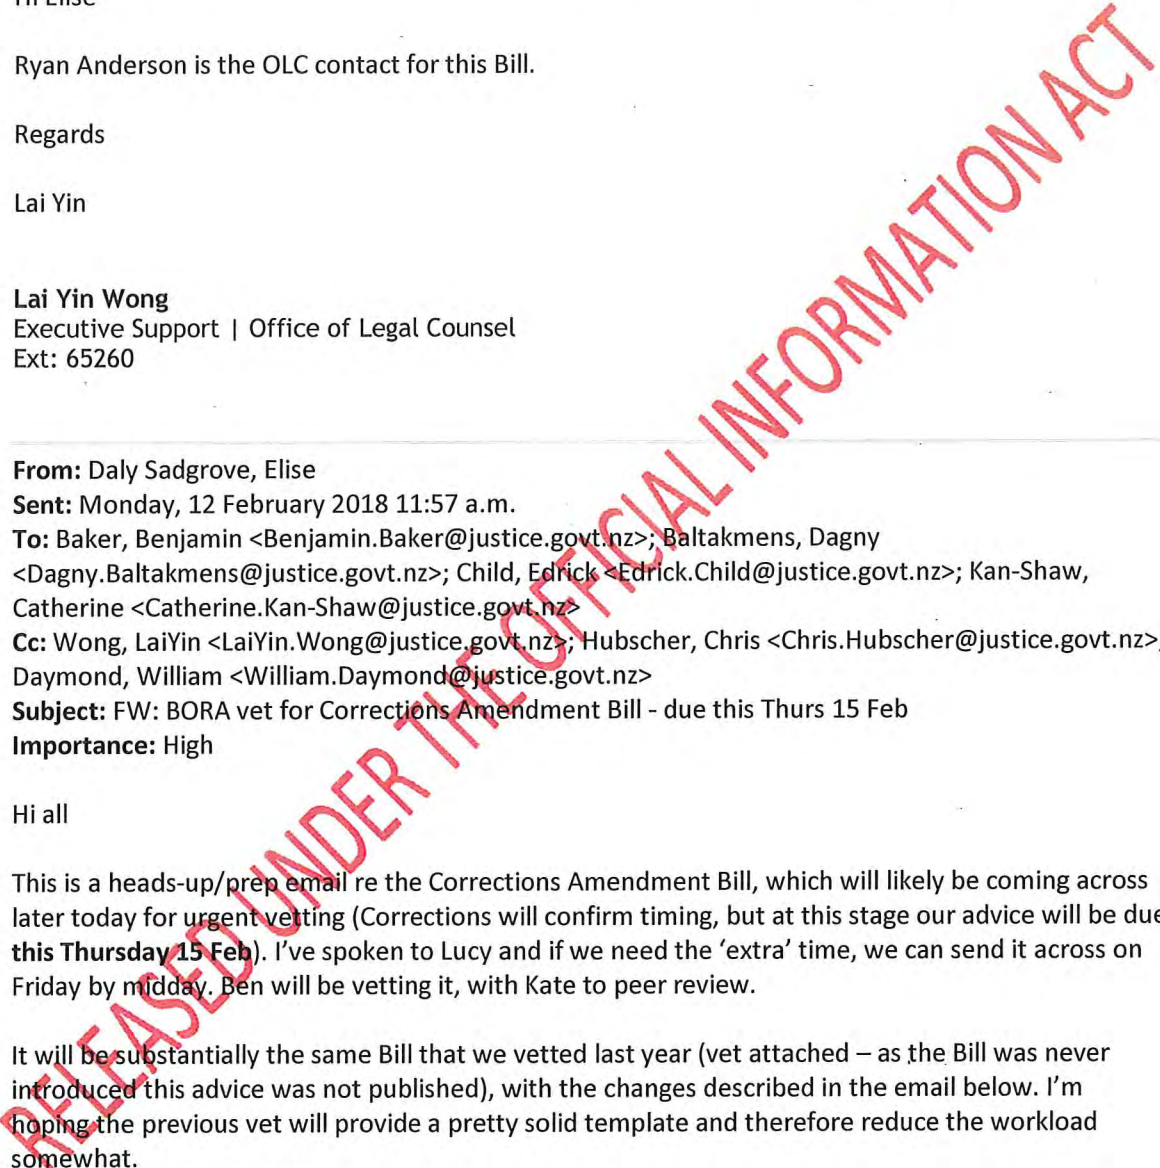

Hi all

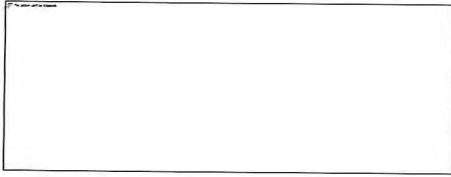

This is a heads-up/prep email re the Corrections Amendment Bill, which will likely be coming across later today for urgent vetting (Corrections will confirm timing, but at this stage our advice will be due this Thursday 15 Feb). I've spoken to Lucy and if we need the 'extra' time, we can send it across on Friday by midday. Ben will be vetting it, with Kate to peer review.

It will be substantially the same Bill that we vetted last year (vet attached – as the Bill was never introduced this advice was not published), with the changes described in the email below. I'm hoping the previous vet will provide a pretty solid template and therefore reduce the workload somewhat.

Will be back in touch once we've heard back from Corrections and have a fresh Bill to vet, but thought I'd send the previous one out now for a head start – it gives an idea of what's in the Bill and our previous views on it.

Thanks

Hi Moana,

Here are my comments. As I indicated, it's mostly style. Though, as I suggested to you, there are parts of the new analysis I think are overly reliant on Corrections' advice/opinion. I think we need to spend more time pointing out specific safeguards in these areas (which should all be signalled). I don't expect this to be a massive job, though, and think they're almost there.

Up to you if you want to distribute these comments to OLC - might not be the worst idea, though, but perhaps we can discuss first.

Out of scope

See you in the morning :)

Cheers,

Andrew

Hey mate,

Can you send me the latest version of the Bill, please? Just keen to have a scan of the explanatory note.

Cheers,

Andrew

Good afternoon,

Thanks for that. Just an update that, in a stunning turn of events, it is in fact Moana Eruera who will now be the vetter for this Bill.

Your move, OLC. Your move.

Best wishes,

Andrew

Kia ora koutou,

Please see attached a draft of the Corrections Amendment Bill for BoRA vetting. Caitlin will be the vetter for this Bill, with Sophia to peer review (once the Local Government Bill vet is out the door). Apologies for the delay in sending it on - it went to the main human rights address, which I have access to but doesn't pop up on my radar.

Indicative timing for LEG is 9 August 2017 so advice is currently due on/by 2 August 2017. Given how fluid things are likely to be around the election, it is worth following up as regularly as possible on progress.

Happy to discuss.

Best wishes,

Andrew
