No I wasn't asking from that perspective. I was looking at it from the point of view of any statements made there around the bill and if they would be attributed to you, to Labour or to the Government.

I am unable to brief you at this time on this bills future but it is my intention to do so (along with Jan and Ruth) as soon as I can.

Hence my concern.

This was the invitation sent to me - given I have been outspoken in my advocacy for the bill.

Will you attend to?

I will defer to you if you attend. Happy to discuss.

7 February 2019

Dear Hon Louisa Wall

You will be aware of the impending reading of the BDMRR Bill which includes amendments pertaining to sex self-identification. We have serious concerns about the implications of this Bill should it pass.

You are no doubt aware of the implications of sex self-identification on the Human Rights Act and the rights of women.

Respectful, reasonable discussion is urgently needed, so Speak Up For Women are holding a public event to facilitate this:

Let's talk about sex self-ID

18.30 – 20.00

Tuesday 26th February

Ellen Melville Centre, Auckland Central

Hosted by Speak Up For Women NZ, spokeswoman Ani O'Brien will facilitate a talk by Physiology Professor, Alison Heather, of Otago University and a video discussion with International Human Rights Lawyers, Professor Rosa Freedman and Julian Norman.

Good afternoon Merran

Thanks for your response to our invitation, confirming Louisa Wall's attendance at the Speak Up For Women event on 26 February from 6:30 - 8:00pm.

We welcome Ms Wall's attendance and are more than happy to offer her an opportunity to speak and to participate in Q&A panel after speakers have finished.

We have prepared a proposed running order for the event, below. The format is a facilitated presentation panel with Q&A.

6:30pm MC opens
6:32pm Ani O'Brien
6:40pm Louisa Wall
6:45pm Professor Alison Heather
7:10pm Facilitated Q&A to all speakers
7:20pm Professor Rosa Freedman & Julian Norman
7:40pm Facilitated Q&A to all speakers
8:00pm MC thanks and close

Our aim for the event is to create a space for discussion that is safe and inclusive for everyone in attendance. All points of view will be heard and questions answered in good faith. We welcome everyone to engage constructively and expect all participants to treat each other with respect.

If you have any further queries about the event, please feel free to contact me.

Kind regards

Ani O'Brien
Spokeswoman
